Happy Easter
Welcome Spring!

President's Message:

Spring is the air! I have enjoyed opening my windows to let in the crisp, fresh air and enjoy the warmth of the sun. The change of season also brings longer days and the chance to take an evening stroll, visit with neighbors and spread out a quilt for a picnic. I like to do an old-fashioned spring cleaning at my house. It is a wonderful way to start anew! This includes my sewing room which is in desperate need of attention. Hopefully, your situation is looking brighter. I will need to take a methodical approach, baby-steps, to sift through the bins that have been neglected. The best part of reorganizing is coming across lost treasures! There are projects in the bins that are waiting to be found and created in something useful. It is also a good time to look at making quilts for charity. The abundance in our lives can make a difference for someone less fortunate. I encourage you to open the windows of your heart and in your homes this spring.

State Guild News

Area rep: Barb Murdock, heberbarb@gmail.com

Just a reminder that we have some fun things coming up in the next couple of months.

Remote Fest starts April 2. There are four classes that will be taught. You can take all four for the price of $20 if you are a state guild member and $40 for non members. The online classes will go until May 9, so you will have plenty of time to watch them over and over.

Quilting in the Redrocks: This is a two day quilt show put on by the Delicate Stitchers in Moab. It is April 30 and May 1. This group of quilters always puts on a great show. It will be held at the senior center in Moab. (Grand Center Building). If you attend this show, make sure that you also go to the quilt show at the Museum, May 1 to May 31. It is a "lots of Dots Challenge" show and they also come up with some fun and interesting quilts for this challenge.

The Rusty Barn Quilt/Craft show will be held at the Mountain America event center in Sandy, in the North Hall. Tickets at the door are $10 but Barb Murdock has tickets for presale for $7.00. She will bring the tickets to the next guild meetings. Cash or check only. This will be May 19-21. Supposed to be about 140 vendors there. Sounds like fun. You can also purchase these tickets on the Utah Quilt Guild website. These tickets are good for 3 days, with a hand stamp.

The International Quilt Show at the Salt Palace is July 21-23. This will be open to the public, with a juried quilt show.

Also, Shop Hop will take place May 6 to the 14. All information about this was sent to you last month.

Check out the websites if you need more information about these upcoming events.
