

Heber Valley Quilters August 2022 Newsletter

August's President's Message:

The guild returns to the regular meeting place in the Public Safety building located at 301 S. Main Street, Heber City at 6:30 pm on August 4th. It was delightful to change the venue last month for an outdoor meeting, BBQ and ice cream social. I appreciate the hard work of Jane and Robin who provided the Christmas-in-July ornament demonstrations, Tricia (and her family), Christine, and everyone who helped with food and the welcoming atmosphere. Get ready to discover the creative genius of Disappearing Pinwheels at the August meeting! This is one more pattern that I hope will use my existing fabric stash in a fun and systematic way.

Remember that you have until September 8th meeting to complete the design challenge. Sandy has a surprise for everyone who participates and cash prizes for the top

Chase your dreams,

Lara

State Guild News

I am hoping that a good percentage of you were able to attend the International Quilt Festival event in Salt Lake. Did you see Lara Wilson's quilt hanging there? We are hoping that they will come back again. Sue Gilgen's Navoo quilt was so amazing. It won best of show last year in Springville, and it is for sale for many thousands of dollars in case you are interested.

Don't forget to attend the Springville Quilt show. It runs through the middle of September. I have already attended and there are some amazing quilts on display.

Utah Quilt Guild "Quilt Fest" will be held October 19-22 in Odgen. You can now sign up for classes and other events. Go to www.utahquiltguild.org

Utah Quilt Guild | Salt Lake City, Utah
